"The Spacefile storage system makes me much more efficient. It is so much easier to access than our previous lateral cabinets."

Lorraine Marsh,
Inventory Administration
Budds' BMW/MINI

The Problem

Budds' BMW was running out of space for its files. Inventory administration staff needed to store car manuals, keys and other documents in a centralized location.

The Solution

Spacefile's solution included expansion pocket end tab folders large enough to accommodate car manuals, keys and additional documents as required by the client. Budds' BMW Staff find the high-density system easier to use than lateral files, and the improved efficiency means less time searching for files and more time focused on customer service.
